

Kansas State University and Midwest Dairy Council

Presents

A Day of Dairy

(Event Date: Friday, October 20, 2017)

A One-Day Exploration of On-Farm Dairy Production and Processing

We are excited to offer Kansas State University students interested in food, health, and/or agriculture-related careers the chance to share an experiential learning opportunity alongside dairy farmers and industry professionals. Throughout the event, students will come to better understand the science behind how dairy products get from the farm to the plate. Together, science, technology, and innovation are helping the dairy industry meet consumer needs for safe, nutritious, fresh, convenient, and sustainable foods – today and into the future.

Featured Activities

Kansas State Dairy Processing Plant Tour

Learn about the food safety, quality and other industry practices taking place at the processing plant related to dairy production. There will be ample time allowed for questions during the tour.

Kansas State Dairy Farm Tour

Visit the Kansas State University dairy farm and learn first-hand about the steps dairy farmers take to ensure their cows are healthy and well cared for so you can enjoy safe, high-quality milk. You will also learn about the efforts dairy farmers take to care for the environment on and around their farms. There will be ample time for questions and answers during the farm tour.

Lunch & Learn

Relax and enjoy lunch while a local dairy farmer shares information about on-farm production practices, his commitment to sustainability and what is being done to ensure you enjoy safe and nutritious dairy products.

Dairy Trivia

Test your Dairy IQ during a trivia competition!
